Journal of European Psychology Students

The Journal of European Psychology Students (JEPS) is an online journal, which is peer-reviewed by the European Federation of Psychology Students' Associations (EFPSA). JEPS provides the unique opportunity for students to publish their work in an international scientific journal, alongside gaining unique experience in academic publishing and scientific writing. Publishing an article as a student provides great advantages for any scientific career.

Therefore, JEPS invites psychology students to submit their research articles and literature reviews from all respective fields of psychology.

The submission deadline for the 4th issue is

1st April 2011

The manuscripts should be submitted electronically using the journal's submission portal at <http://journal.efpsa.org>, where all submission guidelines and information regarding the format and structure of the papers can also be found. Submitted manuscripts must not have been previously published and must not be under consideration for publication elsewhere. After being evaluated by associated editors of the respective field of psychology, the submitted manuscript is then reviewed by reputable scholars. From there, they will make a decision to either accept/reject the manuscript or resend it for further revision.

Please feel free to contact us at journal@efpsa.org with any inquiries.
